Complaint Procedure

Who May Submit Complaints? Complaints regarding alleged violations of the Covenants, Design Guidelines or Rules and Regulations may be reported by members of the Board of Directors, members of the Community or the Association's Manager.

How Complaints Should Be Submitted. Complaints by a member of the community shall be in writing and must include a contact name and email address or phone number in case there is an inquiry from the Board or management office regarding the complaint submitted. Anonymous complaints will not be accepted. Your name and contact information will not be provided to the person you have made a complaint about; it is only needed for the management team. The member must have observed the alleged violation and shall contain the nature of the alleged violation, the location of the alleged violation and the date it was observed, photos are very helpful. A complaint may also be submitted by any member of the Board of Directors or by the Association Manager after a walk through or inspection of the Community.

You may send your concerns to PCMS via email at support@pcms.net or via fax at 303-224-0002.

Thinking of advertising with Porchlink?

Smitty's has advertised with Porchlink over the course of several years and we find the experience seamless. As a seasonal business we often find ourselves with an exceedingly large workload in our day to day processes and we greatly appreciate that we can count on Kerri at Porchlink to touch base with us to ensure we have our ad out. We have worked with other companies responsible for HOA newsletters and found when it came to us the advertisers, our needs were never a priority. The professional working relationship we've exercised over the years with Porchlink has surpassed our needs. We would recommend them to any business looking to get their name out to the community.

Ready to Plant a Tree this Season?.

Planting a tree does not have to be painful. This task can be interesting and rewarding for many, many years to come. The Colorado State Forest Service recommends planting trees in the spring as this offers more moisture and cooler temperatures, which can be beneficial for the establishment of the tree. Fall planting is also a good option.

Prior to planting a tree, call the Utility Notification Center of Colorado at 8-1-1 or 1-800-922-1987 or go to <https://www.colorado811.org> before you dig, so that you or the contractor do not hit a utility line.

Front Range Tree Recommendation List - <https://extension.colostate.edu/docs/pubs/garden/treereclist.pdf>

Below are the steps to planting a tree:

Step 1: Determine the Depth of the Planting Hole

In tree planting, the root ball should sit on undug soil. This prevents the tree from sinking or tilting as the soil settles over time. The root ball should sit slightly above grade with no backfill soil added over the top of the root ball. This allows oxygen to get down into the root area. Measure the height of the root ball and subtract 1 or 2 inches to account for the root ball sitting slightly above grade.

Step 2: Dig a Saucer-shaped planting hole 3 times the root ball diameter

To support rapid root regeneration, research suggests a wide, saucer-shaped planting hole. If the roots have difficulty penetrating compacted site soil, sloped sides direct roots upward and outward toward the higher oxygen soil near the surface.

Step 3 Set tree in place, removing container

After gently removing the tree from the container, shave off the outer 1-1½ inch of the root ball. This can be done with a knife or saw during the planting process. This removes 'circling' roots. As you move the tree into place, limit using the trunk as a handle. The inside curve of the graft union should face north. Align the tree vertically and check from several angles. Add or subtract soil so that the top of the root ball will not be covered with soil. For stability, you may want to add a ring of soil around the base of the root ball. Remove all tree wrappings—many trees are killed long after planting by planting materials that are left on at planting.

Step 4 Backfill

During the backfill process, the best method is to simply return the soil that was removed during digging the hole and let water settle it. Backfill soil should not be placed on the top of the root ball. Amending the soil in the planting hole is a complex issue and has been researched extensively. In tree planting, it is a common procedure to amend backfill soil with organic matter, such as compost. Amending the backfill soil to be five percent organic matter by volume is acceptable and may be supportive to root growth in the planting hole during the first two years. However, amending the backfill to twenty-five to fifty percent organic matter may also hinder root spread beyond the planting hole, hold excessive amounts of water, and decompose, reducing the total volume of soil in the planting hole. For rapid root establishment and eliminating post-planting stress, the focus needs to be on creating a planting hole with the correct width and depth.

Step 5 Staking (if needed)

When trees are set on undisturbed soil and a ring of soil is firmed around the base before backfilling, staking is not needed in most landscape settings. However, in high wind areas and in areas where trees need protection from lawn equipment, staking may be necessary. Do not keep the tree staked for over a year, though, as this can weaken the stem structure. It's like wearing a cast on a leg that isn't broken.

Step 6 Watering the Soil

Watering is done after planting and staking so the gardener does not compact the wet soil by walking on the area.

Step 7 Final Grade

In the wide, shallow planting hole, the backfill soil is likely to settle during watering. Final grading may be needed after watering.

Step 8 Adding Mulch

A circle of wood chip mulch will protect the trunk from lawnmower and string trimmer damage. On newly planted trees, organic mulch can increase fine root development by 400% and result in 20% faster canopy growth compared to grass under the tree. With newly planted trees, do not place mulch on top of the root ball in order to facilitate water getting to the newly planted roots. Once the tree is established, you can mulch up to (but not touching) the trunk.

Castle Rock Colorado Genealogical Society

CRCGS is a recognized non-profit organization and donations are tax deductible. All programs and classes are offered free of charge unless otherwise noted, thanks to the support of our members and their annual dues. Castle Rock Colorado Genealogical Society requests registration for each of our events, including our open events. Please browse our Programs, Education classes, and Events in the sidebar navigation. After registering, you will receive an email that contains links and access information for any virtual meetings or in-person event.

Saturday, June 14, 2025 - 10 AM to 12 PM What's New in Genetic Genealogy Presented by Greg Liverman Virtual/ZOOM

Greg Liverman will review the latest developments in DNA testing for genealogy from the major testing companies, new tools offered by independent developers, and the latest science on using DNA test results to solve genealogical problems. Greg has been an active genealogist for over a decade. As an adoptee, Greg works on both his cultural and biological family trees and specializes in the use of DNA evidence in genealogy. Using DNA and paper evidence, he has solved unknown parentage cases. He lectures on genealogy topics extensively in Colorado and across the United

MONTHLY – Special Interest Groups

DNA SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP - Virtual/ZOOM Only (MST) - 1st Wednesday 10:00 AM to NOON - Members Only - Members Login, then Class Registration

EVERY MONDAY - SHARE: HYBRID/ Castle Rock Library or ZOOM - Everyone Welcome! Every Monday (except Holidays) from 10 AM to 12 PM, join us on Monday mornings of SHARE Genealogy for Support, Help, And Research Experience

Benefits of Membership

- Access to the members-only section on the CRCGS website for handouts and speaker video recordings
- Distinguished speakers and educators at monthly Saturday programs and educational classes
- Bi-Weekly ENews from CRCGS: The Genealogy Minute
- Access to the knowledge and expertise of our members
- Comradery with fellow genealogists
