Mountain Pine Beetles on the Rise in 2026

One of the great benefits of living in Colorado is the warm and pleasant weather, even in the winter (this winter has been a fine example—pardon the pun). However, too much warm weather combined with dry conditions can lead to stress on plants, particularly when spread over years.

Native insects, like Mountain Pine Beetle (MPB) usually act as “forest undertakers,” attacking and killing trees that are nearing the end of their lives or stressed for other reasons, like overly dense stands. When climate conditions stress large numbers of trees, though, the beetle populations can grow into “outbreak” levels. During these times, even healthy trees (that otherwise would be able to protect themselves) are at risk.

The Colorado State Forest Service (CSFS) predicts that we are on the cusp of just such an outbreak on the Front Range of Colorado. Plan to take steps now to protect high-value trees—whether a single specimen in a suburban yard or many trees spread over acreage. The CSFS provides these guidelines:

“MPB leave some easy-to-identify signs that they’ve infested a tree. If you see these two diagnostic signs on your trees, you’ll know that MPB have bored into the trees.

- Pitch tubes: These look like popcorn, but they’re actually globs of sap. Sometimes healthy trees can flush beetles out with their sap, but if you see multiple pitch tubes or tubes that are red or pink, there’s a good chance that the beetles have successfully infested the tree.
- Frass: Look around the base of the tree and in crevices in the bark. If you see sawdust, it means that the beetles have been boring into the tree’s bark.

Pro Tip: Start your inspection near previously attacked trees. You can recognize them from their dead, orange crowns. MPB are more likely to move into live trees nearby and will not attack dead, previously infested trees.

After MPB infests a tree, there is really only one best practice: Remove the tree. Landowners can either haul the tree out or chip it in place. Just remember, if you haul the infested wood away, make sure you take it outside of the forest, to a site at least 1 mile from susceptible pines. Burning the cut trees can also kill larvae, but in drought conditions this is not a viable option.

To help prevent future infestations of MPB, landowners should give their trees extra water. Douglas and Elbert counties have experienced extended drought for the past several years. Follow these winter watering tips:

- Water when it’s warm. No snow should be on the ground, and the temperature should be above 40 degrees.
- Water a wide area. Tree root systems may spread much wider than the height of the tree and the spread of the crown, with most absorbing roots in the top foot of soil and often far from the trunk. Apply water to soak the entire area underneath the full span of a tree’s branches.
- Water slowly. To ensure deep penetration, use a drip or soaker hose on a low setting (or soft spray wand) to apply water slowly to the full area. Aim to apply 10 gallons per inch of tree diameter. That equates to about 40 minutes of watering with a soaker hose for a young tree with a trunk 2 inches in diameter and 120 minutes for a more mature tree with a trunk diameter of 6 inches.
- Retain mulch. To retain soil moisture and save water, apply 4 inches of organic mulch onto bare soil within 2 to 3 feet from the base of the trunk, but not directly against the trunk. Keep organic mulch at least 5 feet away from structures.
- Repeat as necessary. Until spring precipitation arrives, continue watering every few weeks during periods of warm temperatures when there is no snow on the ground.”

There is no approved treatment for the beetles once they’ve entered a tree, so protection is key. In addition to water, for high-value trees, preventative insecticides (either in the form of a trunk drench or injections) may be of use. These pesticides will need to be applied by a licensed pesticide operator in the state of Colorado. For more information, visit CSU’s webpage, or contact your local CSU Extension or CSFS Field Office.

Trash/Recycling Update:

HBS Trash pickup times do not occur at the same time each pickup day and operate 7:00 AM – 7:00 PM. Because of this, if residents contact the HOA office, we may not immediately know if a pickup is delayed earlier in the afternoon. The best way to stay informed is to sign up for notifications from HBS Trash for your address here: <https://forms.gle/Mqgnw2VPY6SX3f7E6>. To ensure these notifications do not go to your junk folder, please add postmaster@hbstrash.com to your contacts. Pickups may be delayed due to hazardous materials in containers, such as motor oil, which require the truck to halt for safe cleanup, extra pickups, including this year's heavy leaf volume, which causes trucks to fill faster and requires additional trucks, or weather conditions. The contact for HBS Trash can be by email at customerservice@hbstrash.com or by phone at 720-547-8600 (Monday–Friday, 8:00AM – 5:00 PM)..

We have been advertising in the Porchlink newsletters for almost 2 years now. The staff is always professional and pleasant to work with. The newsletter has been very helpful in getting business for our small plumbing company. The ad usually pays for itself each month because so many people use it to get reasonable, trustworthy services.

Michelle Cox
Neighborhood Plumber

Smitty's has advertised with Porchlink over the course of several years and we find the experience seamless. As a seasonal business we often find ourselves with an exceedingly large workload in our day to day processes and we greatly appreciate that we can count on Kerri at Porchlink to touch base with us to ensure we have our ad out. We have worked with other companies responsible for HOA newsletters and found when it came to us the advertisers, our needs were never a priority. The professional working relationship we've exercised over the years with Porchlink has surpassed our needs. We would recommend them to any business looking to get their name out to the community.

Street Snow Removal

As a reminder, the street snow removal is provided by the Town of Parker. Their website can be found at <http://www.parkeronline.org/491/Snow-Operations>

Also, while it is not required, it would help tremendously for getting out of your driveway if you also shovel the gutter area so the snow and/or melting snow can have somewhere to go instead of building up, creating an issue with getting out of your driveway.
