The Covenant Corner

Spring has arrived, now is the time to start thinking about "spring cleaning" for all lawn and landscape tasks. April is the best time of year to start clearing debris, removing dead branches from trees and shrubs, begin mowing, and any General Maintenance. Spring is also a good time to check that your sprinklers are in good working order before summer, along with raking, aeration, lawn fertilization, and weed control.

Please take a moment to check the Community Covenants, Guidelines, and any Resolutions for the Landscape requirements.

As a reminder, General routine upkeep and weekly maintenance such as bed weeding (the definition of a weed is: a plant held to have no value, especially one growing plentifully and detrimentally in a garden, lawn or bed area), fertilizing, regular mowing, pruning, trimming, and a review of your water management program, etc. The Association would appreciate your attention in taking a look at your yard and having any necessary routine maintenance completed.

Architectural Answers

With Spring upon us, let's talk about landscaping. With current weather patterns, it seems like this could be a hot one and conserving water and water restriction may be a real possibility. If you are wondering if xeriscaping is allowed, the answer is YES! There is even pre-approved landscaping option available for your convenience on the community website www.colliershillmasterhoa.net.

Please understand that all changes to the current landscaping and/or the installation of new landscaping does require approval, prior to work commencing. For additional details regarding landscaping requirements, please refer to the community guidelines, also available on the community website provided above.

Application Review Procedure of the Design Review Committee (DRC): The DRC has established a process for the receipt, review and response of all design review requests. The DRC will schedule and convene meetings as necessary to review homeowner applications submitted to the management company, PCS.

The DRC will do their best to provide responses to all request with 5-7 business days from the date a request is checked in. However, please note that while the DRC tries to adhere to the noted turnaround time, per the Guidelines they have 45 days to review your request. Once a response has been provided, a response letter may be mailed to the address on file and will also be available by logging into the CINCWeb Axis homeowner portal.

Please email designreview@pcms.net with any questions and/or to submit your request for review.

Invite Native Bees Into Your Garden This Season

Looking to welcome more native bees into your garden this year? You're in luck! Colorado is home to more than 1,000 species of native bees (yes, really!), and the familiar honey bee isn't one of them. These native pollinators are gentle, fascinating, and incredibly important to our ecosystems. With a few thoughtful plant choices and simple garden practices, you can turn your yard, or even your patio, into a haven for them.

Meet Colorado's Native Bees: Unlike honey bees, most native bees are solitary, meaning they don't live in hives or defend a queen. They tend to keep to themselves and are focused almost entirely on collecting nectar and pollen. Because of this lifestyle, most native bees are not inclined to sting, and many don't have enough venom to cause more than mild discomfort, even if they try. Some anecdotal observations suggest that bumblebees may be capable of recognizing individual faces, contributing to their reputation as especially tolerant and approachable pollinators. They're truly some of the most peaceful garden visitors you can invite in.

Plant for the Entire Growing Season: One of the most important ways to support native bees is to provide flowering plants from early spring through fall. Different species emerge at different times, so a continuous bloom ensures that food is always available. A simple way to identify gaps in your landscape is to take a seasonal garden walk and observe what is flowering and which plants are attracting bees. If little is blooming after August, focus on adding late-season plants. If few flowers are present before June, prioritize early-season bloomers. Below are plant suggestions broken down by season that perform well in Colorado landscapes.

Spring Bloomers: These plants are critical for bees emerging in spring when food sources are limited: Blue Flax, Pasque Flower, Chokecherry, Nodding Onion (a fun favorite, after flowering, the stem bends down to reseed itself), Serviceberry, Flowering fruit trees, Penstemon, Purple Geranium.

Summer Bloomers: These plants help sustain bees through the peak of summer: Asters, Blanket Flower or Gallardia, Salvias, Showy Milkweed, Yarrow, Squash, Prairie Coneflower.

Fall Bloomers: Late-season flowers are essential for bees preparing for winter: Goldenrod, Sunflowers (choose varieties that produce pollen), Coreopsis or Tickseed, Hyssop, Asters, Sedum.

Planting Tips for Success: Native bees are more likely to visit plants that are easy to spot and access. Aim to:

- Plant in full sun whenever possible
- Group plants in larger swaths rather than single, scattered specimens
- Choose a variety of flower shapes and colors

If space is limited, don't worry, you can still make a big impact with containers.

Create a "Bee Café" Container: A bee café is a fun and educational way to attract pollinators, especially for patios, balconies, or small yards. It's also a great activity to do with kids. Here's how to make one:

1. Visit a local nursery and observe which plants already have bees on them. Let kids help spot the busiest plants.
2. Plant your chosen bee-friendly flowers together in a large container.
3. Add a shallow dish of water (change it often to keep it fresh).
4. Finish it off with a cute, homemade "Bee Café" sign to celebrate your pollinator-friendly space.

Sprinklers Must Remain OFF

All Town of Erie water users must refrain from using irrigation (sprinkler) systems at this time.

The current winter capacity of the water system cannot handle the extraordinary early use of irrigation. The Town of Erie, like many Front Range communities, does not receive enough raw water in the winter to supply the demand from irrigation systems. Demands are currently approaching 30% higher than usual at this time of year.

To maintain enough water for household, indoor use, and for availability in hydrants for emergencies, the Town will be monitoring for irrigation system use and will turn off water service at the property taps if residents and HOAs/businesses cannot comply with the request to withhold irrigation watering.

- For most large HOAs, this will only turn off irrigation water
- For individual households and lots, this would turn water off for the whole household or building.

This is an extraordinary measure for an extremely precarious situation. The Town does not take turning off water taps lightly, we are also expecting windy conditions in the coming days which will increase fire danger.

It is important that all water users in Erie refrain from irrigation system use through the end of March. Users should wait as long as they are able to begin outdoor spring irrigation. At the earliest we ask:

- Even numbered addresses: Begin irrigation no earlier than April 4
- Odd numbered addresses: Begin irrigation no earlier than April 6

Visit www.erieco.gov/drought for more information. Most residents can monitor their water demands online at www.erieco.gov/SmartMeters

Potable vs Non-Potable

Potable - or drinkable - water is sent to residential homes for use both indoors and outdoors. This is what comes out of your kitchen sink, the shower, and your sprinkler system.

Raw/non-potable water is sent to Erie-owned parks the golf course (via Vista Ridge's private raw water system from Coal Creek and ditches) specifically for use in sprinkler/irrigation systems.

We are asking you to help protect the potable/drinkable water supply by limiting use right now. This water type is what is being limited by winter operations, hydrologic cycles, and for the benefit of sensitive aquatic and other wildlife as part of regular winter season cycles.

The raw/non-potable water comes from treated wastewater effluent (meaning it is water you already used and saw go down the drain). This water still meets strict State regulations and is often stored in our re-use reservoir. This water bypasses another treatment process to go directly out of the sprinklers at our parks and athletic fields.

Are you concerned with sprinkler use in your neighborhood? You can use Erie Submit to let us know about it.
